

NEW: SELL ARTICLES ON ANY WEBLOG

With Oronjo.com, you can sell articles on any weblog. A unique service! We host the secure part of your article, but all formatting and functionality stays the same. You don't need to have a PayPal or Google Checkout account, everything is done automatically. And, of course, you can also sell many other digital goods.

With all that 'free buzz', why sell content?

- The free philosophy is based on the idea that somewhere at the end of the line, you are going to sell something. This can be premium content just as well.
- Micropayments are becoming more popular. And with the Oronjo wallet, buying is much easier than searching.
- Today, people more often buy digital goods. Such as iTunes music, H&M clothing in the Sims game, or Radiohead's latest album In Rainbows.
- Google Adwords doesn't work so well for smaller, specialized sites. However, it's harder to get a free version of specialized content than of popular music, so buying this kind of content makes more sense.
- With Oronjo, you can now sell content to raise money for charity.
- Many people are starting to hate advertising more than paying a small fee.
- People who like your work won't mind supporting you a little.

For many related articles, both pro and con selling, check knowledge.oronjo.com.

Our service is 100% free!

oronjo.com